Statement of Basis and Purpose of Proposed Rule

On November 4, 2025, New York City voters approved amendments to the City Charter that alter the City's land use process, including by establishing a new Affordable Housing Fast Track contained in the new Section 197-f to Chapter 8.

The City Planning Commission, following consultation with the Commissioner of Housing Preservation and Development, is proposing to amend its rules by adding a new Chapter 13 to Title 62 of the Rules of the City of New York to implement the Affordable Housing Fast Track pursuant to Section 197-f of the Charter. These rules would establish a methodology to calculate the total number of affordable dwelling units in a community district as required by section 197-f, as well as a methodology for determining the total number of housing units located in each community district at the start of each five-year cycle, for the purpose of measuring the rate of affordable housing development in each community district.

These rules are proposed to fulfill the Charter's mandate for the City Planning Commission, in consultation with the commissioner of housing preservation and development, to develop a methodology for calculating the total number of affordable dwelling units in each community district. Moreover, these rules are proposed to enable the director of city planning to fulfill the task of determining which 12 community districts had the lowest rate of affordable housing development in the preceding five years, which is necessary for the implementation of the Affordable Housing Fast Track as set forth in Section 197-f of the Charter.

The Affordable Housing Fast Track

The Affordable Housing Fast Track is intended to increase the production of affordable housing units in the City and help ensure that every neighborhood contributes to providing affordable housing by enabling an alternative public review process for land use applications that are legally required to deliver affordable housing under the City's Mandatory Inclusionary Housing (MIH) program in the 12 community districts that produced the least affordable housing over the prior five years.

Under Section 197-f, every five years beginning no later than October 1, 2026, the Director of the Department of City Planning must identify the 12 community districts that, during the preceding five years, had the lowest rate of affordable housing development based on the total number of new affordable dwelling units in a community district as a percentage of the total number of housing units located in that community district at the start of each five-year period.

$$\text{Rate of Affordable Housing Development} = \frac{\text{New Affordable Dwelling Units}}{\text{Total Housing Units At The Start Of Each 5-Year Cycle}}$$

Section 197-f directs the City Planning Commission (CPC), in consultation with the Commissioner of Housing Preservation and Development, to adopt a methodology for determining the total number of affordable housing units in each community district. This methodology will be used to calculate the rate of affordable housing development.

Under the Affordable Housing Fast Track, applications that deliver affordable housing in the 12 community districts with the lowest rate of affordable housing production as determined by the Director that would otherwise be subject to the Uniform Land Use Review Procedure review set forth in Charter section 197-c and 197-d would now be subject to an expedited public review process set forth in Charter section 197-e – with review by the Community Board, the affected Borough President, and the City Planning Commission. In determining whether to approve such application, the City Planning Commission must make findings regarding the application’s consistency with the Fair Housing Plan submitted pursuant to section 16-a of the New York City Charter, and the adequacy of existing transportation, sewer, and other infrastructure.

Transparency and Data Integrity

To promote transparency, efficiency, and accuracy, the proposed methodology would use existing public records produced by:

- the Department of Housing Preservation and Development (HPD),
- U.S. Census Bureau,
- the Department of Buildings (DOB), and
- the Department of City Planning (DCP).

Specifically, the proposed methodology would use HPD’s existing biannual reporting mechanism for new affordable units, which is already disclosed in the Mayor’s Management Report and is also subject to public disclosure under New York City’s Open Data Policy. The proposed methodology would also leverage the U.S. Census Bureau’s count of the number of housing units contained in a community district, as well as DCP’s Housing Database, which biannually reports on the change in legal housing units over time and relies on public records and open data from the Department of Buildings.

Reliance on these existing public disclosure mechanisms:

- serves interests of transparency because these reporting mechanisms are well established and familiar to interested members of the public and rely on publicly available open data,
- promotes efficiency by avoiding the need to develop new, potentially duplicative reporting mechanisms to facilitate implementation of Section 197-f, and
- promotes accuracy because agencies responsible for these existing reporting mechanisms have established processes to review data and promote data integrity.

Affordable Housing Production Formula Calculation Details

Under Section 197-f, the rate of affordable housing development is measured by calculating two components:

- (1) “the total number of new affordable dwelling units in a community district” and
- (2) “the total number of housing units located in such community district at the start of each five-year cycle.”

The Total Number of New Affordable Dwelling Units in a Community District

Section 197-f directs the CPC to develop a “methodology to calculate the total number of affordable dwelling units in each community district, considering data that includes, but need not be limited to, the total number of affordable dwelling units for which the Department of Buildings has issued a permit for construction work and, where applicable, the date upon which an affordable housing unit becomes subject to a regulatory agreement or other similar instrument that provides for the creation of one or more affordable dwelling units.”

The proposed methodology for calculating the total number of new affordable dwelling units in each community district would take into account both permitting data from DOB and the date upon which an affordable housing unit becomes subject to a regulatory agreement or other similar instrument as reported by HPD, as well as other data. Specifically, the number of new affordable dwelling units would be calculated based on the number of affordable dwelling units that have within the applicable five-year cycle achieved both a “start date,” as such term is defined in the rules, and the issuance of a permit for construction work by DOB.

To achieve a start date, an affordable dwelling unit either must have:

- (i) become subject to a regulatory agreement or restrictive declaration (typically in the case of publicly financed affordable housing or affordable housing created through zoning incentives), or
- (ii) begun marketing, through receipt of a Notice of Intent (typically in the case of privately financed affordable housing receiving only a tax exemption).

HPD’s reporting mechanism captures the range of new income-restricted affordable housing units proposed to be counted under the rule, including those units created through private financing, zoning incentives, and public financing (whether City, state, or federal, including new income-restricted units subject to a regulatory agreement in partnership with NYCHA).

By relying on the milestones of a “start date” and issuance of a DOB permit, the methodology ensures that new affordable units are sufficiently far along in the development process that they are reasonably certain to be delivered. Where a unit has achieved only one of a Start Date or DOB permit within an applicable five-year cycle it will not be counted as an affordable dwelling unit for purposes of that cycle, but will be counted as an affordable unit in a subsequent cycle if at such time it achieves the latter milestone.

The Total Number of Housing Units Located in a Community District at the Start of each Five-Year Cycle

To calculate the total number of housing units in a community district at the start of each five-year cycle, these rules propose counting the number of housing units identified in the most recent Decennial Census for the applicable five-year cycle, then making adjustments to account for units added or lost as a result of new building, alteration, and demolition projects as identified by DOB public records and reflected in DCP’s existing Housing Database.

These rules further provide that no later than October 1, 2026, and every five years thereafter, the director of city planning will determine and post on DCP’s website a list of the 12 community districts with the lowest rate of affordable housing development over the prior five-year cycle. To promote finality and enable reliance on the list for the purposes of planning, the rules further clarify that the Director of DCP's determination of the list is final, that this determination will rely on specified data at the time such list is posted, and that any revisions, corrections, or changes to that data after the posting of the list will not alter the validity of the list or any action taken in reliance on the list under these rules or the Charter.

The Five-Year Cycle

Section 197-f requires that the Director of DCP determine by October 1st of every fifth year those 12 community districts that "during the preceding five years, had the lowest rate of affordable housing development." The proposed rule defines the relevant five-year period as running from July 1st, 2021 and ending on June 30th, 2026, and repeating on the 1st of July and ending on the 30th of June for every fifth year thereafter. This proposed five-year period allows the City to utilize existing bi-annual reporting mechanisms established by HPD and DCP, which publish data based on the end of the City's fiscal year on June 30th. This proposed five-year period also ensures that the October 1st determination of the twelve community districts can consider the most recent data on new affordable units published by HPD, in contrast to a rule that would define the five-year cycle by calendar year.

The City Planning Commission's authority for these rules is found in Sections 1043 and 197-f of the New York City Charter.

New material is underlined.

"Shall" and "must" denote mandatory requirements and may be used interchangeably in the rules of this department, unless otherwise specified or unless the context clearly indicates otherwise.
