This rule was proposed and published on January 26, 2026. A public hearing was held on February 25, 2026. The Department received no comments.

Statement of Basis and Purpose of Rule

The Department of Consumer and Worker Protection (“DCWP” or “Department”) is amending its rules to streamline implementation of Local Law 183 of 2025. Among other reforms to DCWP’s licensing laws, Local Law 183 merges two licensed businesses categories – Electronic or Home Appliance Service Dealers and Electronics Stores – into one license category.

To simplify the merger of these two categories and operational changes that are needed as a result, DCWP is adding a rule that changes the expiration date of Electronic or Home Appliance Service Dealers from June 30 of even years to December 31 of even years, the expiration date for Electronics Stores, so that the expiration dates of the two merged categories are aligned.

Sections 1043 and 2203(f) of the New York City Charter and section 20-104 of the New York City Administrative Code authorize the Department of Consumer and Worker Protection to make these rules.
