What did it cost the Department to administer QEWI, QPSI and QRWI approvals in the last completed fiscal year?

I am a New York State licensed professional engineer, License No. 107881, commenting in an individual capacity on proposed rule DOB-216 / 2026 RG 048. I hold no client interest in any matter addressed here. No allegation of misconduct by any individual or firm is made or implied anywhere in this comment or in any of the nine others I am submitting on this rule.

The Department already performs this work. It reviews applications, verifies credentials, and maintains the three designation registers today, at no charge to anyone. That work has a cost, and the Department knows what it is, because it appears in a budget. The entire justification offered in the Statement of Basis and Purpose is one sentence: "Approval of these types of inspectors creates a significant amount of work for the Department." That sentence establishes that a cost exists. It does not state the cost, how it was measured, or how it produces the six dollar figures in Section 1. My first request is the simplest one available: publish the number the Department already has.

The proposed figures are $960 initial and $320 renewal for QEWI, $960 initial and $320 renewal for QPSI, and $875 initial and $300 renewal for QRWI.

The following calculation reverse-engineers what those figures imply about staff time. I offer it not as an assertion about the Department's actual costs, which I cannot know, but so that the Department can rebut it with its actual cost data. Every assumption is stated on its face.

LOADED HOURLY RATE, DERIVED FROM THE DEPARTMENT'S OWN PUBLISHED SALARY BAND

The Department's Facades and Local Law unit administers both the Facade Inspection and Safety Program and the Periodic Inspections of Parking Structures program, and is therefore the unit that would perform this review. The City's official careers site posted a Supervising Inspector, Construction position in that unit at a salary range of $70,898 to $81,533.

Applying a fringe benefit factor of 35 percent to 45 percent produces a fully loaded annual cost of approximately $95,712 to $118,223. Dividing by approximately 1,750 productive hours per year, after holidays and leave, produces a fully loaded rate of approximately $55 to $68 per hour. If the Department applies a different classification, fringe rate, or productive-hour assumption, it should publish those instead and the calculation below should be redone with them.

WHAT THE PROPOSED FEES IMPLY ABOUT STAFF TIME

At $55 to $68 per hour fully loaded, a $320 annual renewal fee is consistent with cost recovery only if a single renewal consumes approximately 4.7 to 5.8 hours of Department staff time.

A $300 annual renewal fee for a QRWI implies approximately 4.4 to 5.5 hours.

A $960 initial fee implies approximately 14.1 to 17.5 hours.

An $875 initial fee implies approximately 12.9 to 15.9 hours.

Stated the other way, if a renewal consumes 30 minutes of staff time, the $320 fee charges $640 per hour. If it consumes one hour, the fee charges $320 per hour. If it consumes two hours, the fee charges $160 per hour. Only at approximately five hours does the implied rate fall inside the Department's own published salary band.

For the initial fee, if the combined resume review and interview consume two hours, the $960 fee charges $480 per hour. At four hours it charges $240 per hour. At eight hours it charges $120 per hour. Only at approximately fifteen hours does the implied rate fall inside the published band.

The question this puts to the Department is concrete and answerable: does a renewal of a QEWI, QPSI or QRWI designation consume roughly five hours of staff time, and does an initial application consume roughly fifteen? If it does, publish the breakdown, because that would be genuinely useful information for everyone in this field. If it does not, the fees are not derived from cost.

THE DEPARTMENT'S OWN CONCURRENT RULE SHOWS THAT IT CAN PRODUCE A COST FIGURE

Proposed rule DOB-210, 1 RCNY 101-20, relating to incomplete inspections, is open for comment at the same time as this rule, closing September 9, 2026. Its Statement of Basis and Purpose states that approximately 44,000 incomplete inspections between 2021 and May 2026 cost the City over $2 million. That is approximately $45.45 per incident, and each of those incidents involves an inspector traveling to a job site, waiting, and returning.

I support DOB-210 and said so in my comment on it filed August 5, 2026. I ask the Department to notice the comparison. In one rule it has quantified a cost per event at approximately $45 for a field visit. In this rule it proposes to charge $320 per year, roughly seven times that amount, for what the rule text describes as confirming that a registrant's State license remains current. Two rules, same agency, same fiscal year, same rulemaking cycle. One has a published cost basis and one does not. I asked for the cost basis on DOB-210, a rule I support. I am asking for it here on the same terms.

WHAT THE ANNUAL RENEWAL ACTUALLY CONSISTS OF

The rule identifies no renewal activity other than confirming that the registrant remains a licensed professional in good standing. That is a query against the New York State Education Department's free public license verification service, which the State maintains at no cost to the City and which is authoritative in a way the Department's own registers are not.

I documented the register defects in Exhibit A to my comment of August 3, 2026 on the FY2027 Regulatory Agenda. Two separate and divergent QEWI files are published simultaneously with no statement of which is authoritative. Three license numbers appear under conflicting names across registers: PE 068107 appears twice in the QRWI register as separate rows because of a first-name and last-name swap, PE 090604 appears as one name in the QRWI register and a different one in the QPSI register, and PE 094087 appears under one given name in the QPSI register and a different given name in the QRWI and QEWI registers. The QRWI register is published at a URL with the designation abbreviation transposed. No register carries a status field, effective date, expiration date, or revocation history. No register is published in machine-readable form or to Open Data. A licensed professional cannot reliably verify from these documents that a colleague or retained inspector currently holds a Department designation.

That is a public safety defect, not a clerical one, and it exists today at no charge. This rule proposes to begin charging annually while it persists.

THE POPULATION FIGURES DO NOT RECONCILE, AND THE REVENUE DEPENDS ON THEM

The Statement of Basis and Purpose states that there are 501 QEWIs, 188 QPSIs and 69 QRWIs, for 758 designations.

Direct enumeration of the Department's own published registers, cross-referenced by license number, yields 491 QEWIs, 188 QPSIs and 67 QRWIs, for 746 designation records held by 641 unique individuals. Twelve individuals hold all three designations. Sixty-two hold QEWI and QPSI, eleven hold QPSI and QRWI, and eight hold QEWI and QRWI, for eighty-one individuals holding exactly two. Four hundred nine hold QEWI only, one hundred three hold QPSI only, and thirty-six hold QRWI only.

The QPSI count matches the Department's figure exactly at 188. The QEWI count differs by ten and the QRWI count differs by two.

A third figure appears in the Department's own consultant's work. The FISP Recommendations Report prepared for the Department states at Section 4.1 that the Department contacted all registered QEWIs for its survey and that 484 registered QEWIs were contacted.

Three sources, three counts. The Department should state which is authoritative and reconcile the others, because the revenue and the per-person burden both depend on it.

REVENUE AND IMPLIED STAFFING

At the Department's stated populations, the proposed renewal fees produce approximately $241,180 per year at steady state. At the enumerated populations, approximately $237,380.

At $55 to $68 per hour fully loaded, $241,180 corresponds to approximately 3,547 to 4,385 staff hours, or approximately 2.0 to 2.5 full-time employees working exclusively on renewals of 758 designations.

The Department should state whether it in fact devotes two to two and a half full-time positions annually to renewing these designations, and if so what those positions do.

THE COST OF A FUNCTIONING REGISTER IS NEGLIGIBLE, AND THAT IS THE POINT

Seven hundred forty-six designation records at approximately 300 bytes each, comprising name, license type and number, designation, status, effective and expiration dates, and a history pointer, total approximately 213 kilobytes. The complete register of every facade, parking structure and retaining wall inspector authorized in the City of New York is roughly one fifth of one megabyte.

On commercial managed cloud infrastructure with a no-cost tier of 50,000 document reads per day, or 18,250,000 per year, five million verification lookups per year does not reach the paid tier. Five million lookups is approximately 294 verifications annually for each of the roughly 17,000 buildings in the Facade Inspection and Safety Program. Storage of that dataset costs a fraction of one cent per year. Cloud pricing should be confirmed against the provider's current published schedule at the time of any Departmental cost analysis.

A one-time build comprising a public search interface, an authenticated administrative interface, CSV and JSON export, and an audit log, at 40 to 80 hours of development at $100 to $150 per hour loaded, costs $4,000 to $12,000, once. This is a single-table application over 746 rows.

Implemented instead on systems the regulated professions have already funded, the cost is lower still. DOB NOW already stores designation status and gates access to DOB NOW: Safety on it, already authenticates every designee through eFiling, already processes payments, and already operates periodic renewal workflows for other credentials. Adding an initial and renewal fee to an existing credential object is a configuration change. A systems change order of $25,000 amortized across five years and 746 designations is $6.70 per designation per year. At $100,000 it is $26.81. At $150,000 it is $40.21.

Infrastructure is not a defensible basis for a recurring fee at these levels. It rounds to zero. The only component capable of supporting a fee of this size is staff review labor, and the Department has published no estimate of it.

I want to be clear that I am not arguing the Department should do this work for free, or that its staff time is worthless. I am arguing the opposite. Staff time is the only real cost here, it is the one thing the Department has not quantified, and it is the one thing that would make this rule defensible.

THE CITY ALREADY MAINTAINS A LARGER REGISTER OF EXACTLY THIS KIND

This is not a hypothetical comparison. The City of New York publishes a prequalified vendor register as downloadable structured data. As of the extract I am working from it contains 5,908 records covering 2,197 distinct vendors across 335 trade codes.

Each record in that register carries fifteen structured fields: master trade code, trade description, vendor name, street address, city, state, ZIP code, telephone, facsimile, named contact person, minority business indicator, women business indicator, local business indicator, revenue indicator, and an expiration date.

The three designation registers this rule proposes to charge for contain 746 records, are published as manually curated PDF files, and carry none of those fields. No status. No effective date. No expiration date. No structured format. No machine-readable publication. Two divergent QEWI files are published simultaneously with no statement of which controls.

The City is therefore already maintaining, at roughly eight times the record count and across 335 categories rather than three, precisely the artifact the Department says it needs an annual fee from 641 licensed professionals to produce. That register carries an expiration date per record, which is the single field whose absence from the QEWI, QPSI and QRWI registers makes current status unverifiable.

I ask the Department to state whether vendors are charged an initial or annual fee to appear and remain on the prequalified vendor register. If they are not, the Department should explain what distinguishes 746 designation records maintained by the Facades and Local Law unit from 5,908 vendor records maintained by the City's procurement operation, such that the former requires a $320 annual charge per record and the latter does not.

LEGAL FRAMEWORK

Under settled New York law a regulatory fee must bear a reasonable relationship to the cost of the regulation it funds. A charge set materially above that cost and used to raise revenue is a tax, which a city may not levy without State authorization. Article 112 of Title 28, cited as authority for this rule, is a fee article. It authorizes fees, not revenue measures.

I do not assert that these fees exceed the Department's costs. I assert that the present record does not permit anyone to determine whether they do, including the Law Department and the Mayor's Office of Operations in executing the certifications they signed on July 31, 2026. The Mayor's Office of Operations certification attests that the rule minimizes compliance costs for the discrete regulated community. A licensed professional holding all three designations would pay $2,795 in initial fees and $940 annually thereafter, for three registrations verifying the same State license, the same good standing, and overlapping portions of the same resume, reviewed by the same unit. Ninety-three individuals hold more than one designation. The rule provides no combined registration, no reduced fee for an additional credential, and no common-elements provision.

REQUESTS

Publish, before adoption, the actual expenditure incurred by the Department in administering QEWI, QPSI and QRWI approvals in the last completed fiscal year, stated as a dollar figure with its components.

Publish the itemized cost basis for each of the six proposed figures: activities included, estimated staff hours per activity, the staff classification and fully loaded hourly rate applied, and any non-personnel cost, identified separately.

State whether any cost payable to an outside contractor, licensor, or software or platform vendor is included in the fee basis, and if so in what amount and to whom.

State whether vendors are charged an initial or annual fee to appear and remain on the City's prequalified vendor register, and if they are not, state what distinguishes 746 designation records from the 5,908 records on that register such that only the former requires an annual charge.

State the authoritative population figures and reconcile them against the published registers and the 484 figure in the consultant's report.

State whether the fee is levied per designation or per person, and consider a reduced fee for second and third designations held by the same individual.

State the basis for the $85 and $20 differentials between the QRWI figures and the other two, given that the application requirements in the proposed rule are identical clause for clause across all three.

State whether the initial fee is refundable, in whole or in part, where an application is denied following the interview.

URGENT: Public Comment, DORIS Delinquency, & FY 2027 Regulatory Agenda Inquiries

Yosep Bak <bak.yosep@gmail.com> Mon, Aug 3, 2026 at 10:46 AM
To: DOBcommunications@buildings.nyc.gov, olgas@buildings.nyc.gov, dobrules@buildings.nyc.gov, DOBCustomerService@buildings.nyc.gov, bgolub@buildings.nyc.gov, GHGEmissions@buildings.nyc.gov, sustainability@buildings.nyc.gov, pharnold@buildings.nyc.gov, nlazohayes@buildings.nyc.gov, FRFontana@buildings.nyc.gov, OTCR@buildings.nyc.gov

Dear Commissioner Ahmed Tigani, Assistant Commissioner Suto, Director Golub, Director Clarke, First Deputy Commissioner Shamash and people legally responsible for DOB Agenda

I am writing to you as a licensed structural engineer regarding the Department of Buildings' proposed rulemaking outlined in the document precisely located at https://rules.cityofnewyork.us/wp-content/uploads/2026/05/CAPA-AGENDA-FY27-final.pdf

As the named contact persons for several critical rules in this agenda—including Rule 2 (designation fees), Rules 5-7 (sustainability and energy codes), Rule 14 (fee amendments), and Rule 16 (facades)—you are collectively responsible for proposals that carry heavy financial and administrative impacts on professionals and building owners.

Before the public can adequately and meaningfully participate in the City Administrative Procedure Act (CAPA) process for these items, we must address severe, ongoing transparency issues at the Department. Specifically, the DOB has multiple delinquent reports on the Department of Records and Information Services (DORIS) portal. These outstanding reports contain critical data required by the public to make informed comments on the upcoming CAPA agenda. The City Council has already passed laws noting the Department's delinquency on these exact reporting mandates. Expecting the public to provide technical commentary on new rules while the Department illegally withholds the foundational data required to evaluate those rules is unacceptable.

In addition to the DORIS transparency failures, I am submitting formal technical concerns regarding Rule 2 (QPSI, QEWI, and QRWI designation fees) and Rule 14 (adding or amending fees)

1. Data Integrity Failures: We already have undeniable evidence of data integrity issues across the current manually curated PDF rosters specifically because the Department refuses to assign the NYSED primary license records as the single source of truth. As a result, the lists contain significant entry errors, including swapped names and false identities.

2. Lack of Cost-Recovery Justification: The Department proposes establishing new initial and annual renewal fees for these designations. A directory of 641 registered professionals requires negligible digital storage. The cost of implementation using commercially available options does not even exceed their minimum free tiers. Furthermore, integrating this list into existing DOB NOW/Open Data architecture costs effectively $0 in incremental cloud hosting. Under New York municipal law, administrative fees must be strictly tied to cost recovery.

1. Registration Breakdown by Designation Count

Category	Grouping / Combination	Count	Percentage
All 3 Designations	QEWI + QPSI + QRWI	12	1.9%
Only 2 Designations	QEWI + QPSI	62	9.7%
	QPSI + QRWI	11	1.7%
	QEWI + QRWI	8	1.2%
	Subtotal (Only 2)	81	12.6%
Only 1 Designation	QEWI Only	409	63.8%
	QPSI Only	103	16.1%
	QRWI Only	36	5.6%
	Subtotal (Only 1)	548	85.5%
TOTAL	Unique Individual Professionals	641	100.0%

2. NYSED Primary Verification Mismatches & Data Integrity Errors

Cross-referencing DOB's published PDF rosters against NYSED primary source verifications demonstrates that DOB's manual list management introduces human data-entry errors: PDF + 4

- PE License #068107 (Sampat Vikrant Shantikumar):
  - State Record: SAMPAT VIKRANT SHANTIKUMAR. PDF
  - DOB Error: Listed twice in `qwri_list.pdf` as separate rows ("Sampat, Vikrant, 68107" and "Vikrant, Sampat, 68107") due to a first name / last name swap. PDF
- PE License #090604 (Koklanos Panagiotis):
  - State Record: KOKLANOS PANAGIOTIS. PDF
  - DOB Error: Listed as "Koklanos, Peter" in `qwri_list.pdf`, but correctly listed as "Koklanos, Panagiotis" in `active_QPSI_list.pdf`. PDF + 1
- PE License #094087 (Feldman German):
  - State Record: FELDMAN GERMAN. PDF
  - DOB Error: Listed as "Feldman, Gary" in `active_QPSI_list.pdf`, while listed as "Feldman, German" in `qwri_list.pdf` and `qewi.pdf`. PDF + 2

Revenue vs. Infrastructure Cost Analysis

Item #2 of the DOB Regulatory Agenda for FY 2027 proposes establishing initial and annual renewal fees for QPSI, QEWI, and QRWI designations. The table below contrasts the projected revenue generated against actual backend hosting costs. PDF

Revenue Generation Models

Fee / Year	Per Designation Slot (746 active slots)	Per Unique Professional (641 individuals)
$30 / year	$22,380	$19,230
$50 / year	$37,300	$32,050
$100 / year	$74,600	$64,100

1. Case 1 (Firebase / Managed Commercial Cloud):
   - Firebase's default free tier (Spark Plan) offers 1 GiB of database storage and 50,000 read operations per day.
   - A database of 641 user records consumes less than 0.5 MB of storage.
   - The entire active registration system runs 100% free ($0.00/year) under commercial cloud tiers. Even on a paid pay-as-you-go plan, query costs for this dataset size would not exceed $12 to $60 per year.
2. Case 2 (NYC Existing Infrastructure - DOB NOW / NYC Open Data):
   - NYC DOB already operates DOB NOW and publishes automated feeds to NYC Open Data.
   - Adding designation status flags to existing licensee profiles in DOB NOW requires $0.00 in additional hardware or cloud spending.
   - Moving from manually curated PDF files to an automated lookup table inside DOB NOW eliminates identity typos (e.g., Gary vs. German Feldman) while leveraging infrastructure NYC taxpayers have already funded. PDF + 1

If a functional, automated system costs zero dollars to host and actively prevents these existing data errors, what on earth could the Department possibly be suggesting with these new fees?

I request a formal response detailing:
1. The immediate timeline for the Department to publish its delinquent reports to DORIS so the public can effectively evaluate the FY 2027 Regulatory Agenda.
2. The statutory cost-recovery analysis justifying the new designation fees proposed under Rule 2 and Rule 14.
3. The technical roadmap for sunsetting manually edited PDF rosters in favor of an automated database sync with NYSED to prevent data corruption.

I look forward to your prompt response.

Sincerely,

Yosep Blake Bak, PE
Licensed Structural Engineer (NYS PE 107881)

New York City Department of Buildings — Regulatory Agenda for Fiscal Year 2027

Submitted by	Yosep Blake Bak, P.E. — New York State Professional Engineer, License No. 107881
Date	August 3, 2026
Subject rules	Item 2 (QPSI / QEWI / QRWI designation fees) · Items 5, 6 and 7 (sustainability laws; 2025 NYCECC implementation; Local Law 23 of 2026) · Item 14 (fee amendments) · Item 16 (facades)
Exhibits	A — Roster census and data integrity findings B — Cost analysis of the proposed designation fees C — CAPA record completeness, Items 5 through 7

Method and standard of proof. Every factual statement below is drawn from a document published by the City of New York or by a party of record, cited at the point of use and indexed on the final page. Roster counts were obtained by direct enumeration of the Department's published PDF registers on the dates shown and are stated as approximate. Cost figures are order-of-magnitude engineering estimates; every assumption is stated on its face so that the Department may rebut with its actual cost data. Where a question is open on the public record, it is identified as an open question rather than asserted as a finding.

No allegation of individual misconduct is made or implied anywhere in these exhibits. Licensees named in Exhibit A appear on the Department's own published registers and are identified solely because the Department's records conflict with one another as to their names. Nothing here reflects on their professional conduct or standing.

EXHIBIT A — Roster Census and Data Integrity Findings

A.1 Census of published designation registers

Register	Published location	Revision	Records
QEWI	nyc.gov/assets/buildings/pdf/qewi.pdf	11/5/25	~490
QPSI	nyc.gov/assets/buildings/pdf/active_QPSI_list.pdf	11/5/25	~175
QRWI	nyc.gov/assets/buildings/pdf/qwri_list.pdf	01/8/26	~61
Total designation records			~726

Unique individuals are fewer than the record count: twelve persons hold all three designations and eight hold two, yielding approximately 694 distinct licensees. The operative number for a per-designation fee is 726; the operative number for a per-person fee is approximately 694. The Department should state which it intends.

Independent corroboration. The FISP Recommendations Report dated December 10, 2025, prepared for the Department by Thornton Tomasetti, Inc., states at Section 4.1 that 484 registered QEWIs were contacted for the Department's survey. That figure is consistent with the QEWI enumeration above.

A.2 Conflicting name records for the same license number

The following three license numbers are recorded under different names on different Departmental registers. These are not typographic variants within one document; they are disagreements between the Department's own authoritative-facing publications.

License	QPSI register	QRWI register	QEWI register
PE 094087	Feldman, Gary	Feldman, German	Feldman, German
PE 090604	Koklanos, Panagiotis	Koklanos, Peter	not listed
PE 068107	Sampat / Vikrant	Vikrant / Sampat S. (surname in first-name column)	Sampat / Vikrant

Each discrepancy is resolvable in under one minute against the New York State Education Department's free public license verification service. None is resolvable from the Department's registers alone. That is the entire argument: the State already maintains the authoritative record, at no cost to the City, and the Department has declined to treat it as the source of truth.

A.3 Structural defects in the published registers

1. Two separate and divergent QEWI files are published simultaneously, with no statement of which is authoritative.
2. The QRWI register is published at a URL reading qwri_list.pdf, with the designation abbreviation transposed.
3. The QRWI register is not in alphabetical order; the entry for Al-Khusaibi precedes the entry for Accardo.
4. The QPSI document header reads “Qualified Parking Inspectors,” omitting the statutory term “Structure.”
5. License numbers are inconsistently zero-padded within a single file; six-digit and five-digit forms coexist on the QPSI register.
6. Some entries run the license type into the number with no delimiter.
7. Holders of both PE and RA credentials are recorded in a single free-text field rather than as structured values.

8. No register carries a status field, effective date, expiration date, or revocation history.
9. No register is published in a machine-readable format or to the NYC Open Data portal.

Consequence. A licensed professional cannot reliably verify from these documents that a colleague, subconsultant, or retained inspector currently holds a Department designation. That is a public safety defect, not a clerical one, and it exists today at no charge to anyone. The Department proposes to begin charging an annual fee while the defect persists.

EXHIBIT B — Cost Analysis of the Proposed Designation Fees

Two independent analyses are offered. The first prices a purpose-built public register on commercial cloud infrastructure. The second prices the same functionality on systems the regulated professions have already funded. Both are deliberately generous to the Department.

B.1 Analysis 1 — purpose-built public register on commercial cloud infrastructure

Data volume. 726 designation records at approximately 300 bytes each (name, license type and number, designation, status, effective and expiration dates, history pointer) totals approximately 213 kilobytes. The complete register of every facade, parking structure and retaining wall inspector authorized in the City of New York is roughly one fifth of one megabyte.

Verification lookups per year	Reads billable above no-cost tier	Annual read cost
100,000	0	$0.00
1,000,000	0	$0.00
5,000,000	0	$0.00

The no-cost tier for the document database service assumed here is 50,000 document reads per day, or 18,250,000 per year. Five million lookups per year — approximately 294 verifications annually for each of the roughly 17,000 buildings covered by the Facade Inspection and Safety Program — does not reach the paid tier. Storage of 0.0002 GiB costs approximately $0.0004 per year. Cloud pricing should be confirmed against the provider's current published schedule at the time of any Departmental cost analysis.

One-time build. A public search interface, an authenticated administrative interface, CSV and JSON export, and an audit log, at 40 to 80 hours of development at $100 to $150 per hour loaded: $4,000 to $12,000, once. This is a single-table application over 726 rows.

B.2 Analysis 2 — implementation on systems already funded by the regulated professions

DOB NOW already stores designation status and gates access to DOB NOW: Safety on it; already authenticates every designee through eFiling; already processes payments; and already operates periodic renewal workflows for other credentials. Adding an initial and renewal fee to an existing credential object is a configuration change, not a build. Amortizing a systems change order across five years and 726 designations:

Systems change order	Amortization	Cost per designation per year
$25,000	5 years / 726 designations	$6.89
$100,000	5 years / 726 designations	$27.55
$150,000	5 years / 726 designations	$41.32

B.3 The only component that can legitimately support a larger fee

Activity	Assumption	Cost
Initial designation review (credentials, work samples, interview)	4 to 8 hours at $75 to $110 per hour, loaded	$300 to $880, once
Annual renewal (confirm license currency and good standing)	15 to 30 minutes at $75 to $110 per hour	$19 to $55 per year

The annual renewal check is a query against the New York State Education Department's existing free public license verification service. The Department proposes to charge annually for a lookup against a State database that already exists and costs the City nothing.

B.4 Revenue sensitivity

Annual fee per designation	Annual revenue across 726 designations
$50	$36,300
$100	$72,600
$200	$145,200
$305	$221,430

$305 is shown for scale because it is the Department's current initial filing fee for a periodic inspection report; it is not a prediction of the proposed fee.

B.5 Conclusion and request

Infrastructure cost is not a defensible basis for a recurring designation fee. It rounds to zero. The only component capable of supporting a fee is staff review labor, and the Department has published no estimate of it.

Under settled New York law a regulatory fee must be reasonably related to the cost of the regulation it funds; a fee exceeding that cost is an unauthorized tax, which a city may not levy without State authorization. Separately, Section 1043(d) of the Charter requires the Mayor's Office of Operations to certify that a rule minimizes compliance costs for the discrete regulated community. Neither showing can be made on the present record.

Absent a published, itemized cost basis — staff hours per initial review and per renewal, fully loaded hourly rates, the systems change-order estimate, and projected annual revenue — any annual fee materially above approximately $30 to $55 per designation is presumptively revenue-raising rather than cost-recovering. The Department is asked to publish that cost basis or to withdraw the fee.

C.2 Two discrepancies on the face of the public record

Scope. The contract is titled "LL97 STUDIES." The notice of award published in The City Record on June 15, 2026 at page 2534 describes the services as Technical, Policy, and Program Design Support for Market Development Programs. A study produces findings. Program design support for market development describes ongoing advisory work directed at shaping demand within a market. These are not the same undertaking, and the difference bears directly on the compliance pathways in the pending energy rule.

Contracting entity. The City Record notice lists the vendor at 9 El Sueno, Orinda, California. Checkbook NYC lists the vendor at 700 South Flower Street, Suite 3000, Los Angeles, California. 2050 Partners LLC was acquired by West Monroe Partners LLC in a transaction announced September 17, 2025, approximately six months before the contract start date; the Los Angeles address corresponds to a West Monroe office. The identity of the contracting entity as of March 6, 2026 is an open question on the public record.

Open question. The notice of award cites no Procurement Policy Board Rule subsection and identifies no underlying governmental contract, unlike other award notices published in the same issue. If a competitively awarded federal or State contract exists whose scope covers this work, its production would substantially resolve this exhibit.

C.3 The concurrent rulemaking

The proposed amendment to Section 5000-01 of Title 1 of the Rules of the City of New York, implementing Local Law 47 of 2026, is presently open for comment, with a public hearing and a written comment deadline of August 27, 2026. It adds a Total System Performance Ratio compliance path for HVAC systems and requires projects electing that path to be modeled using NYC-specific TSPR software.

Total System Performance Ratio exists today in a single implementation: a module of the United States Department of Energy's Building Energy Asset Score tool, developed by Pacific Northwest National Laboratory and advanced for the 2018 Washington State Energy Code by the Northwest Energy Efficiency Alliance. There is no competitive market of TSPR engines.

Buildings Bulletin 2026-005, issued February 17, 2026, states that the 2025 New York City Energy Conservation Code was adopted in compliance with State law but would not be enforced until updated compliance software platforms became publicly available, with an anticipated enforcement date of March 30, 2026. The Department has therefore already tied the operative date of a code to a software delivery schedule. The contract described in C.1 began performance on March 6, 2026, twenty-four days before that date.

No deliverable produced under Contract CT181020268807803 appears in the rulemaking record or anywhere in the public domain.

C.4 The CAPA problem

Section 1043(b) of the Charter requires a statement of basis and purpose. Section 1043(d) requires the Law Department to certify that a rule is narrowly drawn and contains a clear explanation of the requirements imposed, and requires the Mayor's Office of Operations to certify that the rule minimizes compliance costs for the discrete regulated community. Section 1043(e) requires an opportunity to comment, including outreach to that community, and requires that all written comments and summaries of oral comments be placed in a public record and made readily available, not delayed by the pendency of the rule.

Where publicly funded technical or program design work informs a rule and is withheld during the comment period, those certifications cannot rest on a complete record and the comment opportunity is nominal rather than real.

C.5 Requests

1. Disclose any work product under Contract CT181020268807803 bearing on the 2025 NYCECC rulemaking, or state on the record that none informed it.

2. Extend the comment period on Section 5000-01 and re-notice the rule following that disclosure.

3. Publish the developer, source-code and dataset owner, hosting arrangement, licensing terms, cost to filers, ASHRAE Standard 140 validation reports, versioning policy, and grandfathering policy for the NYC-specific TSPR software.

4. Publish objective, tool-neutral acceptance criteria and accept any software meeting them.

5. Identify the underlying governmental contract relied upon for the intergovernmental purchase.

6. Confirm where the public record of comments required by Section 1043(e) is maintained and how the public may inspect it.
